

Cancellation, Rescheduling & No-Show Process Note

1. Student Initiated Reschedule

- Self-service reschedule is available from “My Sessions” any time up to 24 hours before the scheduled session.
- Within 24 hours of the session, self-service reschedule is switched off. The student must call the Admin team directly to arrange a change. This is a deliberate, human handled path for last minute changes, not a system gap.
- Only 1 reschedule is allowed per student. Here the student can use either of the two options as below:
 - Option A: Either Session 1 or Session 2, whatever is required can be rescheduled. A further change request on either session (beyond its own 1) routes to Admin, exactly like the <24-hour case.
 - Option B: Before starting Session 1, both Session 1 and Session 2 are cancelled together and the student starts fresh, rebooking both against current availability.
- Rebooking reuses the same combined calendar / same counsellor locked screens already built for first time booking, entered via a “Reschedule” action instead of a fresh booking.
- The moment a new slot is confirmed, the old slot is released back into that counsellor's open pool automatically.

2. Student No Show

- The counsellor marks “Student did not join” from their session screen at or after the scheduled time.
- That single occurrence is auto-flagged to Admin.
- Once Admin permits, the system triggers a reschedule prompt to the student, so the student can rebook.

3. Counsellor Initiated Reschedule

- The counsellor requests a reschedule from their dashboard and fills a free text comment box explaining the reason, so the counsellor can describe the situation in their own words.
- The system shows the counsellor their own remaining open slots for the month and asks them to propose 1 alternative for each rescheduled slot.
- A notification goes to the student: “Your counsellor needs to reschedule, here are new times,” and the student picks one.
- If none of the counsellor's remaining slots work for the student, then the student cancels the entire booking and does again from beginning.

4. Counsellor No Show

- A counsellor failing to join is the one case that should always route to Admin every time, without exception since it is a service-quality and accountability issue on the organisation's side, not the student's.
- Admin is notified immediately; the system simultaneously auto-sends an apology and reschedule prompt to the student, so the student isn't left waiting on Admin before they can rebook.
- Counsellor no-show count should be tracked as an operational metric, feeding back into the monthly availability review repeated no-shows may mean a counsellor's submitted hours don't reflect their real availability.